The ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) Chartbook 2013 captures macroeconomic developments in the ASEAN Member States and as a region vis-à-vis the global economy through a compilation of selected indicators presented in more than 50 different charts.

We hope that this Chartbook will provide up-to-date and useful information on the progress achieved in 2012, in pursuit of the various economic integration initiatives toward the ASEAN Community by 2015.

As we continue to issue this publication annually, feedback from stakeholders and users are welcome to further improve this reference material.

ASEAN Economic Community Chartbook 2013

INTRODUCTION

This ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) Chartbook is a visual chronicle of the ASEAN economy and its relations with major regions/partner countries and the rest of the world. It aims to provide information on the state of the ASEAN economy at some milestone years in the past and at present, and on discernible trends in key economic areas in the immediate future.

The graphical information in this Chartbook is presented according to the following 8 sections:

- 1 ASEAN in the Global Economy situates the region in the global economic community in terms of population and economic size, growth, and welfare.
- 2 ASEAN Economy looks into some macroeconomic trends and developments within the region.
- 3 ASEAN Trade Liberalisation reports on the stages of facilitation for freer flow of goods within the region through tariff reduction.
- 4 ASEAN Trade Performance takes a closer look at the movement of goods within and outside of the region – trends of exports and imports, and composition and directions of trade.
- 5 ASEAN Trade with Selected Trade Partners charts the region's trade position with selected dialogue partners and describes the concentration and dependencies of selected traded commodities.
- 6 Investments in ASEAN gives a broad time series profile of foreign direct investment inflow to the region, including the major sources of such investments.
- 7 ASEAN Priority Integration Sectors shows the trends of export of goods in the 7 priority sectors identified to help accelerate progress toward the AEC.
- 8 Other Developments in the ASEAN Economic Community presents information on other important elements that sustain the regional economy – export of energy, access to communication, and tourism activity.

CONTENTS

CAVEAT

The charts presented herein are based on data available in the various databases being maintained by the ASEAN Secretariat as submitted through relevant ASEAN working groups and/or data sharing schemes and/or as gathered from official publications and websites of data sources in the ASEAN Member States (AMS) and international organisations as of 31 December 2013.

Some data were derived/estimated using basic statistical practices employed by the ASEAN Secretariat. Unless otherwise stated, these figures are in no way considered as official statistics, and are used only to give indicative information.

1 ASEAN in the Global Economy

1.1 Population of ASEAN and selected trade partner countries/regions

ASEAN's population placed third after China and India, expanding to 617 million in 2012 from 534 million in 2002. The region's population grew at an average annual rate of 1.45 percent compared to China's 0.53 percent and India's 1.44 percent during the 10-year period.

2 ASEAN Economy

2.1 Gross Domestic Product at constant prices, annual rate of change

In 2012, Lao PDR (by 7.9 percent), Cambodia (by 7.0 percent), Philippines (by 6.8 percent) and Thailand (by 6.5 percent) recorded the highest GDP growth among the ten Member States. Overall, the ASEAN6 regained its strength in 2012 over the previous year's economic performance. In contrast, the CLMV country group's GDP growth continued to decrease after it reached its peak in 2005.

Note: ASEAN6 = Brunei Darussalam, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand; CLMV = Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar, Viet Nam

2 ASEAN Economy

2.2 Gross Domestic Product at constant prices, quarterly rate of change

Beginning the first quarter of 2012, Philippines recorded the highest GDP growth among the ASEAN5 economies, followed by Indonesia and Malaysia. Thailand's economy continued to recover from the fallout of 2011 devastating floods.

Source of data: ASEAN Secretariat Database

2 ASEAN Economy

2.3 Gross Domestic Product (GDP) per capita at current prices

GDP per capita of the Member States varied extremely, ranging from US$50,000 to less than US$1,000 in 2012. At one end, Singapore and Brunei Darussalam's GDP per capita were above US$40,000 while Cambodia and Myanmar stood at less than US$1,000. Meanwhile, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines and Thailand's per capita were within US$2,500 to US$10,400.

Notes: Myanmar's data is based on the exchange rate in the IMF-WEO database of April 2013, which is US$1 = 843 Kyats (for 2012).

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.1 Trend of ASEAN Trade in Goods

In 2012, the region's total trade moderated to US$2.5 trillion, higher by 3.7 percent from last year's level. Extra-ASEAN trade continued to account for three-fourths of total trade.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.2 Trend of ASEAN Trade in Goods, in percent of GDP

Total trade as percent of the region's GDP showed a downtrend after it hit the highest share of close to 140 percent in 2005. Intra-ASEAN trade, however, remained relatively unchanged at around 25 percent in 2012.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.3 ASEAN Trade in Goods with selected trade partner countries/regions

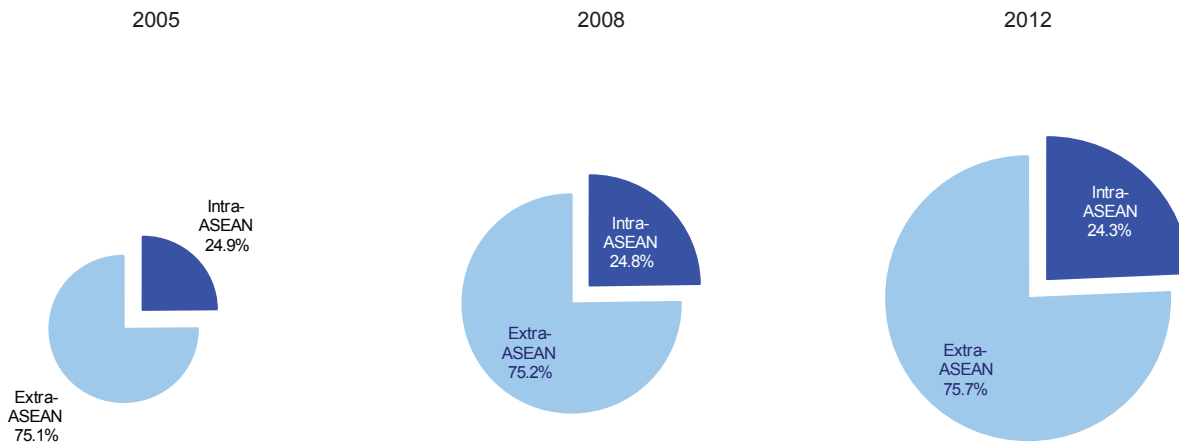

Since 2005, intra-ASEAN trade value almost doubled reaching 602 billion in 2012. ASEAN + 3 (China, Japan and Republic of Korea) contributed a combined share of more than 50 percent.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.4 Intra- and Extra-ASEAN Trade in Goods

Intra-ASEAN trade remained relatively unchanged at around 25 percent in recent years.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.5 ASEAN Trade in Goods with selected trade partner countries/regions, in percent share

The region's trade with China has gradually increased over the years while the shares of US and EU-28 has dwindled significantly. In 2012, China has become the top major trading partner, followed by Japan and EU-28.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.6 ASEAN Exports of Goods to selected trade partner countries/regions, in percent share

From 2005 to 2012, ASEAN has increased its share of export shipments to China from 8 percent to 11 percent, respectively. In contrast, EU-28 and US have decreased their share of imports from the region.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

4 ASEAN Trade Performance

4.7 ASEAN Imports of Goods from selected trade partner countries/regions, in percent share

ASEAN's import share from China has likewise increased in 2005 to 2012 while the region's purchases from Japan and US has contracted during the same periods.

6 Investments in ASEAN

6.1 Net Inflow of Foreign Direct Investments, by source country

FDI inflows in the region amounted to US$110.3 billion, showing a flat growth in 2012 vis-à-vis 2011. Intra-ASEAN investments has grown in recent years although the level remained far below compared to that from extra-ASEAN.

In 2012, FDI inflows largely came from EU-28, Japan and intra-ASEAN. Japan's FDI in the region rose sharply, offsetting the decline from EU-28.

Notes: Data for 2012 are preliminary figures; no data available for Brunei Darussalam. Lao PDR and Myanmar's data on 'by source country' are not yet available; intra-/extra-ASEAN breakdowns for 2012 were estimated by the ASEAN Secretariat.

Source of data: ASEAN FDI Database

6 Investments in ASEAN

6.2 Net Inflow of Foreign Direct Investments, in percent of GDP

As a percentage of GDP, FDI inflows in the region was about 4.8 percent in 2012. The highest recorded was in 2007, reaching 6.5 percent. For periods 2006-2012, Singapore reaped the highest FDI inflows as a percentage of GDP at 19.2 percent, followed by Cambodia (at 7.8 percent), and Viet Nam (at 7.3 percent). Meanwhile, the rest of the Member States posted below 5.0 percent.

Notes: Data for 2012 are preliminary figures; no data available for Brunei Darussalam. Lao PDR and Myanmar's data on 'by source country' are not yet available; intra-/extra-ASEAN breakdowns for 2012 were estimated by the ASEAN Secretariat.

6 Investments in ASEAN

6.3 Net Inflow of Foreign Direct Investments to ASEAN, from 2008-2012

EU-28 and Japan led the external investors in ASEAN, accounting for almost 35 percent of the total FDI inflows. Singapore secured nearly half of the region's FDI inflows, followed by Indonesia (with 16.1 percent), Thailand (with 10.1 percent) and Malaysia (with 9.4 percent).

Notes: Data for 2012 are preliminary figures; no data available for Brunei Darussalam. Lao PDR and Myanmar's data on 'by source country' are not yet available; intra-/extra-ASEAN breakdowns for 2012 were estimated by the ASEAN Secretariat.
Source of data: ASEAN FDI Database

6 Investments in ASEAN

6.4 Net Inflows of Foreign Direct Investments to the ASEAN Member States

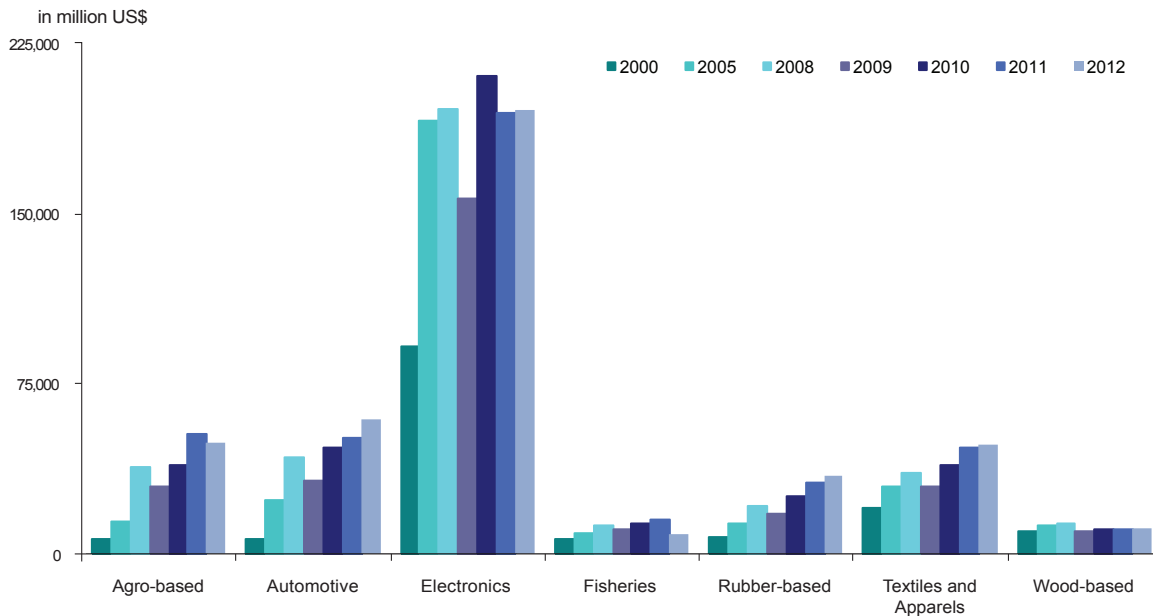

Singapore remained as the leading FDI destination in the ASEAN. FDI inflows to Singapore doubled in 2010, following the global economic crisis in 2008-2009, and since then maintained the US$50 billion plus level of FDI inflows. In recent years, high influx of FDI in Viet Nam ranked it first among the CLMV economies. In 2012, Viet Nam's FDI inflows reached US$8.4 billion.

7 ASEAN Priority Integration Sectors

7.1 Trend of Total Exports - 7 Priority Integration Sectors

For the past years, electronic products remained as the region's main export earner. However, its share to total exports has decreased from 29.5 percent in 2005 to 15.6 percent in 2012.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

7 ASEAN Priority Integration Sectors

7.2 Trend of Intra-ASEAN Exports - 7 Priority Integration Sectors

In 2012, intra-ASEAN exports of electronic products declined by 9.3 percent to US$48.6 billion from US$53.6 billion the previous year. Similarly, its share to intra-ASEAN exports has more than halved from 28.4 percent in 2005 to 15.0 in 2012.

Source of data: ASEAN Trade Database

7 ASEAN Priority Integration Sectors

7.3 ASEAN Exports - 7 Priority Integration Sectors, annual rate of change

In 2012, exports of electronic products, accounting for 15.6 of the region's total exports, reversed favorably by 1.0 percent from last year's negative growth. Except for the decline in agro-based (by 6.3 percent) and fisheries products (by 42.6 percent), export receipts from the other 5 Priority Integration Sectors recorded upturns. Automotive products posted the highest growth at 16.6 percent followed by wood-based products (at 14.1 percent) and rubber-based products (at 12.1 percent).
