

Global Town Hall 2021

“Managing Competition, Conflict, and Cooperation in a Pandemic World”.

Partnership Agreement

About GTH

The Global Town Hall is a one-day virtual conference that will be a global marathon discussion featuring leading minds and experts. The theme of this year Global Town Hall is “Managing Competition, Conflict, and Cooperation in a Pandemic World”

It will cover different time zones across the world, from Southeast Asia, Australia and New Zealand, South Asia, the Middle East, Africa, Europe, Russia, Canada, North America and Latin America. It will run from 09.00 until 23.00 (GMT+7 / Jakarta time) so as to accommodate speakers, panelists, and audience from Washington DC, Ottawa, London, Berlin, Moscow, New Delhi, Singapore, Jakarta, Seoul, Beijing, Tokyo, and Wellington, among others – hence “around the world” and “around the clock.”

The technical operation and logistical organization for the Global Town Hall will be conducted from Jakarta.

Partnership

To conduct the Global Town Hall 2021, FPCI is welcoming partnerships with think tanks, institutions, universities, non-governmental organizations, civil society organizations, and student associations.

The following is the partnership arrangement.

Benefits:

1. Institution visibility: official recognition as a Global Town Hall (GTH) partner in their respective country, logo will be displayed in the GTH official website, squeezed frame in all sessions, and other relevant publication materials.
2. Institution visibility: verbal recognition as official partner by the MC during the conference.
3. A maximum 30-second video profile of your institution to be played during break in between sessions, with either of the following format:
 - a. Institution's leader (e.g. Chairman/CEO, Dean/Rector, Heads) verbally introducing their institution's profile, work, mission, and/or goals;
 - b. Official video asset of your institution.
4. Opportunity to introduce and project your institution's profile to a global audience of thousands from at least 83 countries from around the world beyond the ones that normally attend your events.
5. Members, staff, and students of your institution participating in the Global Town Hall shall receive free e-certificates for their attendance, which may benefit their academic and professional resume.
6. Partners will receive the soft copy of the GTH report proceedings.
7. Partners will be able to market the Global Town Hall as their own event; engage in press or media interviews in their home country to promote the Global Town Hall as its official partner.
8. Partners will have access to the Global Town Hall's database network of think tanks, academic institutions, universities, civil society organizations, etc

Scope of works:

1. Invite respective institution’s members, networks, groups, and circles to participate in the Global Town Hall conference;
2. Encourage the participation of registrants from their institution during the actual day of the Global Town Hall;
3. Promotional support: Assist in disseminating relevant promotional and publication materials of the Global Town Hall via appropriate official channels as deemed appropriate by partner (e.g. social media, official website, or mailing list), with materials already accommodating respective institution’s logo(s). E-invitations should be sent out at least twice before the Global Town Hall;
4. Appoint a primary contact on behalf of respective institution to coordinate with Global Town Hall organizing committee;
5. If interested, provide a video message with a duration of 30 seconds - 1 minute long from institutions members (e.g. students for universities, circles for organizations, members for groups, etc) relating to the theme of the Global Town Hall; “Managing Competition, Conflict, and Cooperation in a Pandemic World”.

Partner Benefits:

1. To help promote better understanding of global issues and foreign policy to the grassroots and the youth in a spirit of goodwill;
2. To gain insights from Town Hall discussions on various issues in international relations from world’s leading minds and world leaders;
3. To gain a beneficial learning experience and have the opportunity to send your thoughts, ideas and aspirations to the Town Hall;

4. To connect with students from Indonesia and other countries who are also participating in the Town Hall; and
5. To be part of the Global Town Hall’s extensive international network of universities, thinktanks and civil society organizations.
